1.6.3 Business Attire Policy: Business Casual Dress Code

ApMoSys expects employees to dress appropriately in business casual attire. Because our work environment serves customers, professional business casual attire is essential. Customers make decisions about the quality of our products and services based on their interaction with the representing employees.

Consequently, business casual attire includes shirts, skirts, and dresses which are not considered formal but are appropriate for a business environment. Examples of appropriate business attire include a polo shirt with pressed khaki pants/jeans, a sweater and shirt with corduroy pants, and a jacket, sweater, and skirt. Torn/Ripped Jeans and footwear such as sneakers, and sandals are not appropriate for business casual attire.

Employees are expected to demonstrate good judgment and professional taste. Courtesy to coworkers and your professional image to customers should be the factors that are used to assess that you are dressing in business attire that are appropriate.

1.6.4 Business Attire Policy: Casual Dress Code

ApMoSys expects employees to dress appropriately in business attire of a casual nature. Our work environment for employees encourages employees to dress comfortably for work. Employees should not wear anything that other employees might find offensive or that might make coworkers uncomfortable. This includes clothing with profane language statements or clothing that promotes causes that include but are not limited to, politics, religion, sexuality, race, age, gender, and ethnicity.

Our goal is to provide a workplace environment that is comfortable and inclusive for all employees. We expect that the business attire, although casual, will exhibit common sense and professionalism.

Employees are expected to demonstrate good judgment and professional taste. Courtesy to coworkers and your professional image to coworkers should be the factors that are used to assess that you are dressing in business attire that is appropriate.

1.7 Enforcement

Department managers and supervisors are responsible for monitoring and enforcing this policy. The policy will be administered according to the following action steps:

- 1.7.0.1 If questionable attire is worn in the office, the respective department supervisor/manager needs to advise and counsel the employee regarding the inappropriateness of the attire.
- 1.7.0.2 If an obvious policy violation occurs, the department supervisor/manager will hold a private discussion with the employee and ask the employee to go home and change his/her attire immediately.
- 1.7.0.3 Repeated policy violations will result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

1.8 Conclusion

In conclusion, this Policy reflects our commitment to creating a supportive and flexible work environment.
